"Matt's Place Coeur d'Alene"

A home providing hope for People with ALS and their families in the Coeur d'Alene area for years to come

MATT'S PLACE FOUNDATION
SUPPORTING THOSE WITH ALS

Matt's Place Foundation, a 501(c)3 non-profit, was founded by Coeur d'Alene native Matt Wild and his wife Theresa. Matt, a Marine Corps Veteran, was diagnosed with ALS in 2015. While the financial impact of this disease for Matt was greatly lessened by the medical benefits provided by the VA, he was alarmed to realize the terrible financial toll ALS can have on People with ALS (PALS) and their families who lack benefits. The Foundation's mission is to provide hope, housing and assistance to families living with ALS.

The mission of the Past Presidents Council of the North Idaho Building Contractors Association (NIBCA) is to utilize its building industry knowledge and resources to support the local community through various philanthropic projects. Its 2017 endeavor, in partnership with Matt's Place Foundation, is to build Matt's Place — the first home specifically designed to support PALS and their families as the disease progresses.
